The goal is to assemble at Princeton University a comprehensive working collection of papers reflecting the career of John Foster Dulles and his impact upon the foreign affairs of the United States.

The following tentative categories suggest the scope of subjects upon which Secretary Dulles has had some impact. What is desired at the present time is to discover the extent to which it is possible to begin assembling and microfilming relevant materials for eventual removal to Princeton. This list is intended as a guide for a detailed survey of the files of the Department of State. The emphasis throughout will be upon Secretary Dulles' contribution to, and influence upon, the subjects mentioned.
